

Kinsa

- This year, Marshall Hill school was selected as one of the schools Nationwide to pilot the KINSA FLUency program
- KINSA FLUency is a school initiative to help parents and the school detect and respond to spreading illnesses quicker while keeping children and classrooms healthier. This requires using a KINSA thermometer and the KINSA app on your phone.
- You will be able to see the general health of Marshall Hill school
- Simply use the thermometer and immediately go to the KINSA app and check off your child's symptoms. Privacy is taken very seriously and no personal identifiable information is revealed through this app.
- You will be able to see the general health of Marshall Hill school
- KINSA also offers personalized guidance on how to make your child feel better as well as when to contact your physician.
- We hope you will come aboard and join us. Open to all families Brochures will be sent home.
- There will be a new app release beginning October. More information to come.
